A HOME SONG

I turned an ancient poet's book,
And found upon the page:
"Stone walls do not a prison make,
Nor iron bars a cage."
Yes, that is true, and something more;
You'll find, where'er you roam,
That marble floors and glazed walls
Can never make a home.
But every house where Love abides
And Friendship is a guest,
Is surely home, and home, sweet home,
For there the heart can rest.
—Country Life.

The Atchison Champion of Atchison, Kansas, of date June 16th, contains an elaborate account of the marriage of Mr. Elie Cooper, formerly of this city, and Miss Geneva Seever, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Seever, 929 Kansas avenue, of that city. The account says the wedding presents were numerous and very beautiful. Among the number were handsome and elegant gifts from the Cosmos Club, of which the bride is a popular member. Mr. Elie Cooper is employed at the Atchison Saddlery and is a young man who is highly esteemed by all who know him.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED

At the Recent Meeting of Bankers at Beechwood Park

At a meeting of the Bankers of Group Nine of the Kentucky Bankers' Association, held at Maysville July 8th, 1909, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

RESOLVED—That it is the sense of the Bankers of the Ninth Kentucky Group, in Convention assembled at Maysville, July 8th, 1909, that there is neither necessity for, or justice in, the establishment of Postal Savings Banks by our Government, and that it is our unanimous opinion that the enactment of such socialistic laws are sure to prove detrimental to our Country, Business and People.

Offered by HON. J. N. KEHOE.

RESOLVED—That the Bankers of the Ninth Kentucky Group, in Convention assembled at Maysville, Ky., July 8th, 1909, heartily endorse the improvement of the water ways of our country by the Federal Government, and we especially endorse and urge the improvement of the Ohio and Big Sandy Rivers.

Offered by HON. J. N. KEHOE.

RESOLVED—That the members of the Ninth Group of the Kentucky Bankers' Association hereby express their hearty appreciation of the delightful manner in which the Maysville Bankers have so freely contributed to their entertainment, and that they especially wish to acknowledge their indebtedness to the beautiful young ladies who have ornamented the meeting with their presence and dispensed so bountifully the hospitality of the occasion.

Offered by F. M. FULKERSON and HON. BEN L. BRUNER.

RESOLVED—That Group Nine of the Kentucky Bankers' Association endorse the policy of State Bank Examination, believing that it will not only promote the best interest of the Banking Business, but that it will be a telling step towards the defeat of the proposed Postal Savings Banks.

Offered by F. M. FULKERSON.

PROBLEM EACH MAN MUST SETTLE FOR HIMSELF.

Mr. MacQuillintine Somewhat Puzzled Over the Proper Course to Pursue-Much in Selecting the Right Time.

"Do we," said Mr. MacQuillintine, "get more by kicking for what we want or in the long run do we get more by being patient and waiting?" "This is a question that each of us must settle for himself and it is, I suppose, largely a matter of individuality, of temperament. Some men are natural, hardy, able kickers, who kick for what they want and get it, and some of us are timid and non-aggressive, no kickers at all, and so it might seem that really this is a question not worth discussing, that will settle itself automatically in each case according to the man.

"Still there are many men not natural fighters, but who have in them a spark of fight, to whom this question of whether to fight or not must often recur. Shall I kick against this injustice or these cold plates at the boarding house or this poor pay? Shall I kick against any of the many things that may afflict us or shall I be patient and wait for this thing to right itself? This to many a man who may be gentle but who takes life hard may often be a very grave question and very hard to settle.

"People do respect us more if we don't lay down and let people walk on us, and we know that if we are content to be sat on we shall continue to be sat on; but what are we going to do about it? Are we going to kick or be patient?"

"There is much in knowing when and how to kick, for there are men who kick blunderingly and futilely, and then there are men who kick gently and kindly and yet with an evidence of reserve power and resolution behind the kick that brings respect and results.

"I am speaking now, you understand, not of the natural hardy kickers who with abundant ability to back them stride in and kick with vigor and power, getting what they want because they can make good, but of the multitude of men to whom, as I have said, whether to kick or not may be a grave question. These men must consider, and it may be that they do spend many trying days and nights in considering, whether they shall stand up and fight or let things go.

"These must have a clear cause, and they must know when to kick and how. If they succeed they take a step up, and then with broader resolution and greater strength, if they have got the stuff in them, they keep on. If they fail their case may be worse than before. It is a grave question for many people.

"As to many things that may not be purely personal we commonly leave the kicking to be done by other people; and in their kicking we may find much relief, but as to whether we ourselves shall kick or be patient, whether we shall try taking the bull by the horns and take the chance of being tossed, or sit down and wait, why, that still remains a question that each man must settle for himself."

The four granddaughters of Charles Dickens have been allowed a pension of $2.50 a month each at London.

BEWARE OF DISPUTE

END OF QUARREL ALWAYS HARD TO FORESEE.

King Solomon's Advice to "Leave Off Contention Before It Is Meddled With" Worth Heeding and Remembering.

"Avoid the beginning of quarrels."

No better advice could be given to a newly wedded couple. King Solomon, with all his wisdom, never spoke truer word than that "the beginning of strife is like the letting out of water; therefore leave off contention before it is meddled with." Most quarrels, conjugal or otherwise, begin with trifles, and lo! "Behold how great a fire a little matter kindleth!" Avoid disputes. "It is the first step which counts," for which sound reason, do not take it!

An old man, who, as a criminal lawyer of many years' standing, had wide and deep acquaintance with human nature, used to tell his daughters: "Make up your minds to the fact that your husbands are but men, although they are gentlemen, and take heed how you provoke them to anger. It takes two to make a quarrel; never be one of the two, and remember that your dignity best is preserved by silence when you are provoked."

"Never forget that you take your husband for better, for worse, and if, which heaven forbid, worse comes, at least bear it like a Christian gentleman. You will find the recipe in Matthew 5, beginning at verse 29."

There is no bit of wisdom which prospective brides and grooms more profitably may take to heart than that while quarrels between lovers who are still a-courting may successfully be patched up as good, even better than new, provided always that neither of the lovers meant malice, and also that both are affectionate and forgiving of disposition, the genuine matrimonial family row rarely is followed by kisses, unless there has been heart burning which sears, and acrid bitterness of spirit which long endures under the sweet of reconciliation.

A tempest of tears and temper not often is the forerunner of clear-shining after rain. On the contrary, it by far is more likely to stir up lasting dissension and anger.

How can it be possible that love of any sort can be made more precious by disputing and wrangling, by contradiction and continual disagreeing? During the days of courtship it is possible that it may pass for playful teasing, when hearts are soft and heads even softer; but after marriage there is danger that each will be ready to assert his or her rights, and each be less willing to yield to the other.

Lovers' quarrels usually are either ebullitions of jealousy, mostly due to selfishness, or else they come from what somebody has called "the leakage of bad temper," a most undesirable quality for either husband or wife. If lovers cannot avoid quarrels before marriage there is small hope that they will be able to eschew them afterward.

Poe and Darwin Interest Berlin.

A number of interesting events in the German book and literary world have occurred during the past week. Everywhere there are evidences of the recognition by Germans of Darwin and Poe, the seventy-fifth birthday of Haackel having stirred up Wilhelm Borsche, Max Apel, Eduard David, Bruno Wille, Rudolf Penzig and F. Naumann to prepare a volume of essays on Darwin and his time (Berlin: Die Hilfe), and Hedda and Arthur Moeller-Bruck having translated Poe's works, in ten volumes (Minden: J. C. Brun's Verlag), and written a biography, in which they accept practically the French view of the author of "The Raven," and place him, with Goethe and Balzac, at the dawn of his country's art. Theodor Etzel has added an attractive volume of translations, "Edgar Allan Poe: Gedichte" (Munich: Georg Muller), which echo very faithfully the rhythm and sense of the originals.—From a Berlin Letter to the New York Times.

Mantle Rays Penetrate.

"There are X rays and N rays and there are also rays from those mantle things that you put on gas burners to improve the light."

The speaker, a photographer, pointed to a batch of forged plates.

"I know to my cost that there are mantle rays," said he. "For a month I stored new plates in a closet along with a mantle, and all of them got fogged. The mantle, you see, contains thorium, a radio-active substance that penetrates a cardboard plate box as easily as it penetrates glass. I didn't know that till my doctor told me so recently. My ignorance cost me over 100 plates."
